Ever see the movie, "Diner"? Where Ellen Barkin is berated by her husband for mis-filing James Brown in the Jazz section of his record collection? Great movie; hard to find time to file CD's and records simply because there are just too many; last count I couldn't count em all. I have them in boxes and bags and shelves all over the house like a nutcase. And still buying even though I have CD's I have never heard all the way through. I once calculated that if I listened to one whole album or CD everyday it would take me more than the number of years I have left to hear them all. Dumb.
