Yes, I've already decided to go with the JBL 2226H and the B&C DE250 combo. I don't have much in the way of woodworking experience, but have a friend that does (His brother has a full shop, and builds harps, among other thing). He has also dabbled in speaker building and filter design, so it was an easy task getting him interested in the 4pi project! Of course, we both have children, so I figure the project should be finished within a year (that's probably wishful thinking

Thanks for the suggestions Wayne.
