

---

Subject: Re: Aren't We Too Tolerant of the British?
Posted by candoon on Wed, 21 Jul 2010 16:43:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Right now to me and this gets worse as each year is tacked on with age, I think we are too tolerant of many things. Do not get me wrong, I grew up hearing we were the melting pot for years, I have no issues with anyone unless they are idiots, I do not have patience for idiots, but right now we are too tolerant of many things and its just getting worse. Just in the past 20 years think of how many things have changed that makes us feel like we are walked over on, how many times do I need to call and pay a random bill and be told to push one for English.....wth.

---