One thing I always liked about the DX25 is the surround. It is wide enough to allow a relatively low cutoff.

Vifa has changed it slightly, part number DX25TG09-04 replacing the older DX25TG05-04. There are differences, but not enough to warrant a crossover change. I think there is more unit-to-unit variance than there is difference between old and new, so essentially I consider them to be the same.
