Subject: Re: Blu-ray home theater, is it worth it?
Posted by Adveser on Fri, 22 Oct 2010 22:00:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just an interesting aside. The porn industry dictates the format of media. That may not be true today though because it is very easy to view the stuff for free. That was the no. 1 reason VHS won despite it's lesser quality.

But seriously, don't think one format or anther will be the last. Producers of entertainment will and always have been attempting to get people to pay them on a "per view" basis. We just haven't adapted well to the model and always refuse to do so. There will be at least another half dozen formats in the next 50 years guaranteed, because it is extremely profitable to do so.