Subject: Re: Sound proofing a room

Posted by Wolfgang on Sun, 24 Oct 2010 07:20:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You might consider acoustical foam or Silent Board Acoustic Wall System if the walls have been placed. Another way is to furnish the room with rough surfaces as they absorb sound. But this does not mean the room itself will be sound-proof. It will only stop the sound from bouncing on and off walls and reverberate the sound to any other parts of the house.