Subject: Re: Hearing My Own Voice
Posted by GuitarStrings on Mon, 06 Dec 2010 21:42:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Wow, you learn something new everyday! I've always wondered why my voice sounds so high when I speak to people on the microphone. I know I can't possibly sound like that in person, but with my laptop mic, I sound like a child.

This is especially problematic because I like to do a bit of karaoke over voice servers just for the hell of it. I'm really paranoid about how my voice sounds while singing and need to sing a song over and over till I think I sound 'normal'.

Now I know what to look for to really hear myself. Thanks!