Subject: Re: Hearing My Own Voice
Posted by Adveser on Thu, 09 Dec 2010 23:35:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Try singing the "tonality" of the notes (not to be confused with timbre, which is also known as "tone" by a lot of people), rather than the pitch. Once you start hearing it on a consistent basis and in every note you'll be able to reproduce it flawlessly and you can be confident you are hitting notes perfectly on key no matter how off the timbre of your voice in your head is from reality.