I've always thought the R&R Hall of Fame is a joke. Half the members were famous before they were twenty five. Half are tired old hacks and half never made a good record in their lives. It's like opening the teeny-bopper hall of fame. The Sex Pistols made what; one album?? They should be in the hall of fame? Like the average utility second baseman hitting two stand-up doubles and throwing one guy out at home and making the hall of fame.
