No. Bose makes junk. My mom used to work work DMX/JBL/Bose and the bose stuff was always hilariously awful.

Bose's wave radio thinks adding low-order harmonic distortion and pushing the circuits hard near it's wattage limitation sounds great. In reality is sounds muddy and sounds like it struggles. It attenuates the high end too. I think they are trying to emulate the way an old tube radio would work and just don't have the know how to do so.

"no highs, no lows, gotta be a Bose"
