Does anybody know where I can find a DVD with a Russian movie "Night Watch"? It is called "Nochnoy Dozor" in Russian. I have the original but I would like to have the one with English subtitles, so my American friends would understand what's going on.It's one of the best movies Russians ever made. A brief description:There are people among us who look usual but who are different – they call themselves Others. They can enter the magic layer of reality – Dusk, feel the magic power and use it for their different magic abilities. From the very beginning of our days Others took a side to serve to and to fight for. Others who protect Light united in the Night Watch as they fight against those who come out in the night time. Others who fight for Darkness united into Day Watch. Their battle goes on for ages – and will be going on until the balance is lost and one side wins forever…Thank you for any help and I hope you enjoy it too.
