I've just ordered 2Pi Tower kits as mains .

The plan is to get those built and live with them for a while. If they are satisfying (subjective) and have good numbers (measured response etc) in my 2-person HT at the intended listening spots, I will go ahead and build out the HT as outlined above.

If not, I will move these to surround duty after building CD mains (most likely 4Pi's).

Thanks again everyone for your inputs.
