A couple of years ago I tried a Classe' CA-70 and it just never sounded right in the mids and highs; kinda, I dunno,,,transistory. These days I mostly use my Tubelab Simple SE with EH 6CA7s. {It's important to support George so he can finally buy a shirt!} The SSE isn't quite as refined as the 45 amp I built with Steve Brown but it does a better job of driving the Pis and sounds great w/o being too toobey.

I need to look at that class T or D amp you built. 120 lovely watts would be ...lovely.
