Hey Bill! What size room do you have? I'm debating where to put audio stuff in our new house, but because the building is coming along very fast, I don't have a lot of time to decide. I can do a fairly small family room that is about 12' wide and 15' deep, open to the kitchen on one side, or I can convert a bedroom by not having a closet built into it. That would give me an enclosed area of about 12x 14. As you know, my speakers are pretty similar to yours. What say you? Or anyone else for that matter?
