Hey all,

I am the owner of a Denon AVR-1907 Surround Sound Receiver. This is a really nice high end unit that has multiple zones and outputs. The other night I was about to drift off into sleep and all of a sudden the sound quit on the TV/DBS setting. I have no clue why this happened. I was thinking either the wires going from the cable box to the receiver quit on me or the audio jacks on the back of the receiver went bad. I moved the wires from my DVD player to the cable box so I can watch cable using the DVD output setting on my receiver. Any ideas of what to look for or how to troubleshoot this issue. Thanks for any info in advance, and if you need more information about my setup please feel free to ask and I will try to get back asap. Thanks again!
