I love reading well written material mostly because I lack that certain "something". That is an awesome write up and it makes me feel so happy to be nearing the finish of my 2pi studio for my center channel. I will be ordering my kit soon and now am very anxious. I wish I had the money to build 3pi's but there is no possibility in it at least not any time soon. I will then be building 2pi towers for my L/R channels and then probably a set of 1pis for my rears. It's killing me to have to wait as I am a total instant gratification kind of guy.
