Thanks all for the comments. Something has to be done. Ella is only showing up in two dimensions and well all know she absolutely needed 3! I have no depth, though the left - right separation is good. I put some sound absorbing panels behind my listening position, didn't seem to help. The room is fairly dead, I had insulation stuffed in all walls, floor and ceiling, still, not a great sound stage. Maybe the speakers are just too big for the space? Help!!
