I'm already ready for next year, and sorry that I missed out the past few years. It felt great to be back, and welcomed by so many friendly faces, some of which I had not seen in years.

Took a nice FOUR hour nap today, and woke up still in show mode. I turned my rig on, and kept wanting to open the front door to the house, and stick my head out, see what was happening and invite people in.

I can honestly say I liked everything that I got to experience at the fest. Just when you think you've heard it all, your horizons expand again. Mine certainly did.

We as a group truely run the range of just about everything out there, tubes, solid state, vinyl, cd and digital, high end, DIY, budget, expensive, etc - there really is something for everyone, and I LOVE that.

Cheers,
Russ
