Yes, I agree with you, Russ. I was saying to Scott just before I left how I always feel a little sad when it's time to leave.

LSAF is the show where all are welcome and everyone can come. Everyone can afford to come, even the startup companies. So we get a good group every year.

I think this was the best show ever. I liked them all, but somehow, this one seemed special. For anyone that missed it, you really missed out and I hope to see you next year. For those that were there with us, I offer my sincerest thanks and hope to see you again next year!
