Good deal on the sale, Bob! I was impressed with the little Alpair TL's. The low end was quite nice for such little drivers. I could see those making an awesome HT setup. They would be great for a bedroom or small apartment rig as well.

Bruce, I was sincerely impressed with the OddWatt series of equipment. They all seemed to do a superb job with what they fed, and for the money I think you've got the best bang for the buck going out there right now. If I only had the extra $$$ one of those Forewatt's would be mine. Damn kids and college sucking away my fun money!!!!
