Subject: Re: Da Vinci Code
Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 19 May 2006 17:18:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes absolutely there can be no argument there. I just wonder how they can argue a case where all of the evidence that would support those documents is purely subjective since there is no way of validating the absolute authenticity of the information contained within the documents.I geuss the way I see it is they are arguing the merritt of a point that has never been authenticipated.