

---

Subject: Re: Da Vinci Code

Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 19 May 2006 17:18:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yes absolutely there can be no argument there. I just wonder how they can argue a case where all of the evidence that would support those documents is purely subjective since there is no way of validating the absolute authenticity of the information contained within the documents. I guess the way I see it is they are arguing the merit of a point that has never been authenticated.

---