Subject: Re: My sister`s friend and other stories
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 23 May 2006 13:49:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

All Protestant Christian churches I am aware of believe that the communion is a symbol of Christ's sacrifice, not actual changing of the substance. Transubstantiation is a uniquely Catholic and Orthodox thing, but I think the Episcopal church believes in transubstantiation too. All others that I am aware of do not.