

---

Subject: Re: My sister`s friend and other stories

Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 23 May 2006 13:49:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

All Protestant Christian churches I am aware of believe that the communion is a symbol of Christ's sacrifice, not actual changing of the substance. Transubstantiation is a uniquely Catholic and Orthodox thing, but I think the Episcopal church believes in transubstantiation too. All others that I am aware of do not.

---