I can talk about this more, but send me some mail on it.I'll just close with this: in her research, Judith Levinefound that at one time the _only_ place you could find the original child porn-- stuff that has been circulating for 30 years(first in print and then scanned into net photos)-- thatsame stuff which was actually "a day at the beach" shots oftoddlers and such were on sting sites exclusively.The birth of net child porn was promulgated by sting opsfrom the gov't and elsewhere. The book "Harmful To Minors" is thoroughly researched andfootnoted and has gone to more than one printing in hardcoverand paperback.But if there's more to say about it, I'd do in the dungeonor someplace.I am not a parent, but I am a former child. I believe that littlehas been learned by successive generations on these subjects.
