

---

Subject: Re: Multi sub hook-up question

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 22 Sep 2011 22:54:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

No, you'll want to low-pass the subs, meaning you'll need some kind of crossover. For flanking subs (nearest the mains), you can use a simple coil in series, but this will only work if the subs are as close to the same sensitivity as the mains (which is unusual). This is impractical in most cases, so active crossovers are used instead.

---