The sub boxes look nice. Sorry about the misshapen woofer cutout.

NWCgrad wrote on Mon, 26 September 2011 02:41 Take the box back and have her replace the front baffle. These seem really well made (except for the cutouts which were made by hand without the use of power tools - no jig saw or router which led to the error in sizing) so I am not sure how easy it would be for her to replace just the baffle. It is a 16" x 16" size, so it could be cut off I suppose.

That's the route I would take. Wouldn't be hard to do even with the crudest hand tools and it solves the problem without being a potentially troublesome or ugly compromise.
