

---

Subject: Re: hole saws

Posted by Bill Epstein on Fri, 30 Sep 2011 22:48:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Depends on the hole and where you are, spelling favorite with an "U" tells me UK and brands will be different. If you're talking about wood, I like the Rigid Brand hole saw bits that have a separate arbor with 2 protrusions that insert into holes on the cutter as you tighten it onto the arbor. Hole saw cutters that come attached to an arbor at a low price soon come adrift.

Except for repeated sizes like Terminal cups and 4" vent pipe, I use my router and a trammel to cut even small holes. Quick, easy and no limit to size.

---