Subject: The most expensive speakers in the world

I was thinking about how much I'd be willing to spend on speakers if I was rich, so I looked around online for the most expensive ones. I found a pair of speakers that go for $6,950,000. That's almost seven million bucks! They're made of solid gold, and only one pair was made. I thought that was pretty insane, I couldn't believe something like that even existed. If you had plenty of cash, how much would you ever consider spending on speakers?
