Hi Wayne,

I read through as much as the forum as I could, but didn't see this asked.

I did see that you recommend the flanking sub approach, to the side of and a bit behind the mains.

I plan on putting LCR 3pi's behind an AT screen with two subs. Can I somehow use the subs as stands for the LR 3pi's? (probably with another, short stand to get the 3pi at the desired listening height, or possibly something attached to the top of the DIY sub)

Thanks,

Ken
