Subject: The right crowds for the music
Posted by Danny on Sat, 03 Dec 2011 12:43:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

One of my favorite local bands broke up recently, and I was really devastated! They were a young group and played in a lot of clubs where young people go. The problem was that their music didn't fit with today's crowd. They sounded more like early Rolling Stones. I suppose if they had played to an older crowd, they would have been more successful. Sometimes you have to research the clubs and the type of crowds that frequent them.