Please take pics of the backs and fronts of these 2226H's.

I think something funny is going on here.

I live in Columbus, Ohio and could test these drivers if you are within driving distance.

I have used JBL 2226H and J models (8 ohms and 16 ohm), there should be no sound issues from these drivers if they are working correctly!

If you would like to discuss this over the phone, send me a msg with your phone nr and time to call.

If the cores are correct for 2226, then a recone might be worth the cost depending on how much you like these drivers.

Regards, Ron
