Subject: Mid Horn Throat Covering?
Posted by rkeman on Sun, 15 Jan 2012 01:32:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Could the mid horn throat be covered with black grill cloth or screening on the back of the mounting plate to keep dust and other objects away from the driver? The B&C DE250 and many other compression drivers appear to have a screen material in the horn throat that presumably does not degrade their performance. Any thoughts?