Please forgive me for being a negative nellie, but that particular model has been plagued with problems and bad reviews. I'm not sure the seller is any more responsible than the manufacturer.

I hate it when people say things like "you get what you paid for" but in this case, it probably applies. Not sure what other advice anyone could give, except "don't play your records on that thing."

Jensen JTA-450 Turntable (read the reviews)
