Hi Fortunately there are some still in existence. Best Buy is not such a place. The easiest way to find one is to pick some top end piece of equipment and google the manufacturer and see who is the nearest dealer. Almost certainly he will carry several good brands and have listening rooms. On thing for sure... when I visit such a place if the first room has mega watt 7-8-9 channel stuff, I walk out. They are unlikely to have anything I care about.
