Hi Everyone, In the first photo you will see my able assistants. In the second photo the reason they were so intent on taking over a part of my work bench. The largest of the assistants is nearly 15 pounds, the smallest 12. They are very good at pushing keys on my PC (not in the photo) as well. I haven't been able to teach them to build projects yet, but there is hope as they can find and carry off components with great ease.
