Wayne,

I'm building 4pi's for my mains and trying to figure out what to do for surrounds. I've been really impressed by the JBL midrange clarity. Reading back through old posts I came across references to the 3pi pro's that use the DX25 tweeter and the JBL 2206 12" woofer in a cab about the size of the 2 pi.

Do you still have the plans for the old 3pi pro? How would you compare them to the current dome tweeter options? Is there a benefit in the midrange with the JBL woofers? Is there a drawback or compromise due to beaming of the 12" at or near the crossover point?

Thanks, Chris
