Subject: Re: Would someone bring me up to speed on 6 channel audio?
Posted by Bill Wassilak on Wed, 04 Apr 2012 19:33:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've only heard of 2 different types of 6 channel.

One is used in movie theaters, they have the front speakers in stereo, what they call a mid channel where the mid channel is in stereo about half way back through audience which is mainly special effects, then the rear speakers.

The other one is the normal 4 speaker surround set up but there using stereo subwoofers which makes no since. Since everything below 100hz becomes omni-directonal anyway.