Subject: Re: Internet connection required on Blu-Ray Discs?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 25 Apr 2012 12:28:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No, you don't need an internet connection at all.

Again, some DVDs and BluRay disks have extra features offered that can be accessed through an internet connection but they are not required to play the main content of the disk. You can view the movie without having a connection the internet, and it isn't any easier or better if you do.