Hi Wayne , I am assembling a pair of Pi one.
I have obtained a port duct from PE :
http://www.parts-express.com/pe/showdetl.cfm?Partnumber=260-478
Unfortunately it is flared and has the required diameter nearly in the middle, it is much larger at the end that will be on the face of the baffle.
I can cut the duct to the required length, no problem there.
What worries me is the diameter of the port: does it have to be of the designated size all the way , or just at one end is enough?
Thanks.
