I think I'm going to vote for "none of the above". BTW this caused a local problem in the primaries. The law here says you need to have a majority of the ballots cast, not the majority of votes. Here (Arizona) nearly 1/3 didn't pick any candidate in one of the elections and thus made it impossible for any to win. Now all will re-appear on the Nov ticket. I wonder what would happen on a national level if this occurred.
