I'm thinking of starting a podcast, and I wan't to do it as simply and cheaply as possible. Compared to a few years ago, I'm imagining there must be some pretty good plug'n'play software systems ... Are there??

I'm asking as someone who actually has a pro-audio background and expensive multitrack software. But this time, I want a basic no-fuss system to just plug in and record.

Personally, I'm on a Mac... but for the purposes of this thread, I'm curious about all the options.
