I've got my new speakers up and running and loving life.

Question on the DE250 on the horn.. I'm new to horn loaded compression drivers...

I see posts of people replacing the diaphragm on these drivers.. Do compression drivers have the diaphragm go out sooner then normal tweeters?

I'm running my speakers with 75W / Ch tube amps... So I was thinking these speakers should go for many many years without issue.

Thanks

Andy
