Subject: Re: How Many Amplifiers are in Your Listening Room Today
Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 27 Dec 2012 15:19:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, Bruce, you know I'm kind of like you. Not only do I own every model of my loudspeakers, but I have more than enough amps to drive them. So even though I have sound systems in my living room, bedroom and in two offices, Tulsa and Bentonville, I still have so many that some are just stored and get swapped in every now and then. I whittled down the extra hardware some last summer, after going to that passive preamp prototype that you built me, I got rid of all my other preamps. But I still have probably a dozen amps. Aaah, but there's room for more...

(...and don't get me started on old tube radios.)