Thanks for the reply Wayne. I am not planning on adding anything else, and honestly what we have now actually looks good in the room.

My main concern is that the existing treatments might somehow be hurting performance, especially in the left front corner. From your response it sounds like leaving everything as is will be fine.

I do not have test equipment, just a SPL meter from Radio Shack.

Going to enjoy what I have for a year or two, then consider building a 4Pi L-C-R setup and reusing the 2Pi's elsewhere in the house.

Thanks again, Wayne for all you give to the community.
