

---

Subject: Re: Room question and plans

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 14 Mar 2013 13:14:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

They'll work perfectly in that room.

You've got mail! I've sent the plans to you.

As an aside, vaulted ceilings always seem to make the room sound "shouty" in the upper mids. When you clap your hands, the slap echo is fierce. Constant directivity cornerhorns will help a lot, being a lot less adversely affected by the room than other types of speakers.

---