Hard to believe the Seattle sound is 20 years old. When it first came out I was blessed with a very hip student-run college radio station on campus. There was always something new playing, and I guess I should have paid more attention. Not sure what good that would have done, since I was a poor student and couldn't have afforded tunes anyway. Well, the years have gone by too quickly and I feel a need to reconnect with that sound. Not everyone's cup-'o-tea, but it's still better than anything in recent memory.....C
