Well, it looks like I'm gonna have to play taxi service to bring the oldest back from college that weekend. May is always a bad month for me.

On a side note and an observation:

If I have to listen to only jazz or classical at an audio show, I'm most likely not going to come. I own some, but it's mood music. I've noticed that when I've asked to play an actual rock or blues CD/album that wasn't on the "approved audiophile" list that there was instantly an aire of tension in the room. Not all rooms, but the majority. Oh, it'll get played, but you can feel the apprehension. I guess I'm more musically spread out than most as I've only found two genre's I usually won't buy, death metal and rap. That, and I refuse to limit myself to just audiophile pressings or uber quality digital. Life's too damn short to be that picky.

My $0.02
