I am starting to think that what my brother should do is to build the 4pi as designed and then play with a fresh design build to accommodate the drivers he wants to use, that way he has a reference to compare to. There is a lot to read and try to learn about a design like this and that won't happen in a hurry.

Wayne can you please send me a file with the 4pi cabinet and network design? Thanks very much best regards DH1A.
