

---

Subject: Re: For College Dorms
Posted by Thermionic on Fri, 30 Aug 2013 22:59:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Granted, it's probably not THE most practical setup, but....

A buddy built a pair of Wayne's 2Pi speakers from a kit, and had them sitting on stands in his dorm room. They were driven by a simple, single ended triode EL84 amplifier.

That system sounded quite nice indeed, especially for something that cost so little! The levels of imaging and soundstaging that it attained were nothing short of remarkable considering the small room and its crummy acoustics. I would've loved to have heard it in a proper room.

Thermionic

---